Why A New Jail? How A New Jail?

f you haven't asked the ques- n, "Why a New Jail?" you are t a very curious citizen and ust have more money than you ow what to do with! This will wer the thinking people who e asked. "Wh..."

The State of Michigan, through Corections Commission regu- es the county jail system in the te. To do this, certain require- nts or standards have been set the housing of prisoners and staff of the commission are sponsible for the maintenance these standards. For any law or egulation there must be a "club" d in this case, the club is to ose down the jail if it isn't up standard. Ours in Crawford ounty is not and we have been ld about it for several years. ike Otsego County, we don't like to be pushed around by the peo- le down in Lansing. We don't ven like the state cars on the highway-they look too much like dollar signs! As the former Mayor of Grayling, George Burke, used to say, "SO-o-o-o-" so the State went up and closed the jail in Otsego county and now they spend a lot more money taking the prisoners somewhere else and paying some other county to take care of them.

Roscommon County has been paying Crawford County to take care of its prisoners for some time. Both of these counties still have to build a jail, but it's hard to save money when its all going out to some other county.

Now, the Supervisors of Crawford County have been informed that the state is out of patience-we are next. The nearest jail which has room left might be 100 miles away and that's where the County will have to transport its prisoners when the state closes the jail. The supervisors have concluded that its necessary to build a jail - now!

This is still a democracy, so our voters can still decide not to have a jail, but the supervisors feel the obvious expense of this loss will certainly convince the majority that it is best we build now.

That gets us to the next question, "How a New Jail?" There are two ways to finance one - borrow the money with bonds and pay them back plus interest out of tax revenue. The other way is to raise the money thru taxes (and get interest on it until it is spent) and build the jail when the money is "in the bank." Your board of supervisors proposes to do it this last way and will ask for your approval in the November election - your approval to start building a fund by adding $1.00 to your tax bill for every $1000 of your assessed valuation. A YES vote in November will save you money!

May Extend Flies Only AuSable Area

Possibility of extending "flies only" trout fishing regulations to cover more of the Main Stream of the AuSable River is slated for discussion at the January meeting of the state Conservation Commission.

The Commission announced the scheduled discussion "to give all interested persons an opportunity to express their views."

Some discussion of the experimental regulations was heard at the September 18-19 meeting of the Commission at Higgins Lake when three angler advocates urged the Commission to continue the special regulations on waters now covered and to extend coverage to other suitable waters "on a sound, scientific basis." Michigan has approximately 16,000 miles of trout streams.

At present, some 45 miles of the North Branch of the AuSable, 33 miles of the South Branch and eight miles of the Main Stream are covered by special regulations which limit trout anglers to fly fishing. No bait fishing is permitted on these waters.

The experiments are designated to determine whether "flies only" regulations, with larger minimum size limits, will allow more trout to reach spawning size. Tests show a large percentage of undersized trout caught on bait fail to survive when unhooked and returned to the stream.

Commission orders which established the special regulations are through the 1959 trout fishing season. Commissioner George A. Griffith of Grayling said the commission is "in favor of continuing flies only regulations on present sections of the AuSable". The possibility of extension to cover more waters must be studied, Griffith said.

Households Are Bigger In Crawford County

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York, Sept. 25 — Families in Crawford County are running larger these days. Second births are becoming more commonplace. The proportion of couples having third and fourth children is going up rapidly also.

These changes, of great economic importance, are indicated in Census Bureau reports and in population estimates made by other agencies.

The size of Crawford County families is brought out in figures showing that there are now 391 persons, on the average, in each 100 households locally.

This is large, compared with the ratio found elsewhere. In the United States as a whole there are 341 people per 100 households. In the State of Michigan it amounts to 345 per 100.

The bigger birth rate, together with the reduction in infant and child mortality due to advances made by medical science, have combined to add to the natural population growth.

This medical progress has also had a great effect at the upper end of the age scale, increasing the proportion of elders in the population. Nationally, there are now some 15 million people over age 65.

It has become an important second factor, contributing to the growing size of today's households.

As of the beginning of this year, according to latest unofficial figures, Crawford County was a community of 1,000 household units.

The strengthening of the household, which is the nation's basic economic unit, results from the most part from the new self-sufficiency of the older people. What made it possible was the big expansion in public and private retirement programs.

This, combined with larger savings and insurance protection than in former years, have enabled them to remain financially independent as never before. Because of this they figure importantly in the current economy.

They represent a steadily increasing market with a need for all kinds of goods and services. Industry must reckon with it. Merchants, too, will have to set their sights higher to provide bigger households with more of the necessities of modern living.

The final trap shoot of the season drew a terrific turnout, Dick Rasmussen, trap shoot chairman for the Grayling Sportsmens Club reports. Plans are being made now to open the trap field on the new property out the old Lake road for next summer, Rasmussen said. He added that the field at the Golf Club was very good but a large crowd made the area too congested both for shooter and golfers.

Bill Schreiber was top scorer with a perfect 25 out of 25 for the day. Larry McNamara hit 23 out of 25 while Clyde Peterson scored 21.

Grayling Scout Troop 77 Attends Camporee

Grayling's Boy Scout Troop 77 attended a camporee at Lake Ogemaw near West Branch last Friday night and Saturday, under direction of Acting Scoutmaster Claude Halstead, who was assisted by Bud Smith and Sgt. Larry States. Fifteen members of the troop were present, five of them transfers from cub scouting this year. They are Richard Smith, Terry Smith, Garrett Bailey, Ross Argue and Charles Hawes.

The group arrived at the campsite Friday evening in time to set up their tents and prepare a weiner roast for supper. Saturday, they set up an archery range and gave instruction in the safe and proper use of bows and arrows. Bud Smith and Sgt States assisted in this, which was the Grayling troop's assignment in the camporee. Afterwards they had time to visit other groups, including the rifle range and the cooking range, and watch the pioneering skills exhibited by other troops. Saturday evening they participated in the group campfire, and heard the program where several scouting officials gave short talks. County School Superintendent John MacAuley attended the camp fire and program Saturday evening and brought home a load of boys afterwards.

Acting Scoutmaster Halstead would like to thank all those who so generously furnished equipment to the boys for making the trip, not only various groups and organizations, but individuals also. He would also like to see parents give as generously of their time as of their goods, and requests any interested to do so to contact him.

Take 20 to 0 Setback From Boyne City In Season's Second

Pellston - Grayling Rated Toss-up Contest

The 1958 version of the Grayling Vikings grid squad open their season before the home folks this Friday night after playing two straight games on the road. The Vikings will be entertaining the Pellston Hornets who like the Vikings have lost two straight ball games.

Pellston lost their opener to Cheboygan Catholic Central by the thin margin of a point after touchdown, 14 to 13. Last Friday, the Pellston Hornets succumbed to the East Jordan Red Devils by a 13 to 7 count. The Vikings on the other hand lost both of their first games by wider margins. Roscommon defeated them 32 to 0 and last Friday they lost to the Boyne City Ramblers 20 to 0.

Most gridiron students feel that Grayling has met tougher teams than have the Hornets. Also on their home grounds before a home crowd, the Vikings are given at least an even chance of breaking their 16 game losing streak. It was on October 28, 1955 against these same Pellston Hornets that Grayling turned in their last win, 27 to 20. It was also against the Hornets that the Vikings last scored on October 26, 1956. Since that time, the green and white have been shut out of both the scoring and victory column.

Two long runs coupled with a fourth down pass spelled doom for the Vikings at Boyne City last Friday night as they played last year's champions to a stand still in every department of the game except scoring.

The Ramblers kicked off to Grayling. The Vikings failed to make a first down and punted to Boyne. The Ramblers pushed down to the Grayling 8 yard line but the Vikings stiffened and shoved the host team back to the 15 yard line. On fourth down, a end run play turned into a pass much to the amazement of Grayling and the Ramblers had their first score. A kick for extra point was missed.

In the second quarter, a Rambler back got away for a 40 yard scamper and Boyne's second touch down. A pass for the extra point was good and Boyne City led 13 to 0 as the half ended.

Shortly after the second half opened, a 54 yard run by a Boyne City back scored their third and final touchdown. The extra point was kicked and the Ramblers owned their winning score of 20 to nothing.

Grayling proved they could move the ball as they penetrated to Boyne's 9, 20, 25 and 33 yard lines on several occasions. Fumbles at these points hurt. Both teams racked up 6 first downs. Roy Lovely turned in a great defensive game for the Vikings, being credited with ten lone tackles. LeRoy Wales also looked good. In the line Captain Curt Haas and John Cox stood out. Roger Hatfield and Bill Lucksted in the backfield ground out most of the yardage for Grayling.

The green and white clad Viking squad showed tremendous improvement since their first game with the Roscommon Bucks. Their tackling and blocking was sharper and the line charged much harder than in the first contest of the season. As much progress during this week would spell a victory for Grayling Friday night without a doubt.

Charlevoix marked themselves as the power of the Northern Class C Conference and an early choice as the conference leader as they tromped a strong Mancelona Ironman eleven last Friday night 35 to 0. The two teams up to that point seemed to be of about equal strength. Coach Don Carey's Red Rayders proved beyond a doubt that they are headed for a bang up season. Gaylord surprised Harbor Springs 33 to 6 and might give Charlevoix an argument before the season is over.

The affair will get underway at 6:30 p. m. with a turkey dinner at which about 150 persons are expected to attend. Music will be played during the meal for the entertainment of those attending.

The program will get underway about 7:30 p. m. Chairman Puffer said. He emphasized that anyone not wishing to attend the dinner but wanting to hear the program was more than welcome to come. Tickets for the dinner have been set at $2.50 per plate and are available from any committee member or will be on sale at the door.

Chairman Puffer announced that Herbert Wolff of Grayling had consented to be the master of ceremonies at the program. It had been hoped to have United States Senator Charles Potter on the program but due to a previous committment he was unable to come to the Grayling rally.

Legislative Committee Studying Delinquency Among The Teen-agers

DELINQUENCY among the teen-agers of the new rock and roll generation is creating new ripples of alarm among the men who make the laws for Michigan.

Muggings, sluggings, robberies, car theft, vandalism — and a chuckle at the rules society lives by: all are too common for comfort.

The problem arose in other generations. Though the case now may have different roots, the problem remains.

A special legislative committee headed by Rep. Harry [illegible] Battle Creek, is studying blunt testimony from shocked adults in an effort to develop new controls over the young.

Probate Judge Lee Mallison of Battle Creek suggests a form of "communal living" for teen-agers in trouble. It would be established in their hometowns but out of their former environment.

Mallison, who agrees that not all officials who work with youths share his views, said part of the blame is the attitude of leniency toward youngsters nowadays.

"A social worker, a veteran in the field, told me a boy shouldn't be treated harshly because he only stole a car," he said. "This worries me and I believe it would worry the state."

Dr. James J. Brennan, of the Michigan State University Police Administration department and a former New York City police veteran, has views similar to Judge Marrison's.

Four major factors in the upbringing of a child share the blame if he goes wrong, Brennan said.

They are the family — the basic unit of society —, the church, the schools and the community.

If all four are working together and approach their top efficiency, juvenile delinquency is unlikely.

"Families have the first responsibility. From the day a child is born, there is the influence of the home to protect and guide him. Those with happy families rarely get in trouble", Brennan said.

Schools have the child in a captive audience for at least 12 years.

Churches have the responsibility for the moral tone of every child's character.

Those are recognized waypoints in the process of growing up. Dr. Brennan proposes fourth, the communinty which can — if it will — control the vice, the type of magazines on the newstands.

Another judge, Vallie W. Dussia of Monroe, proposed a system of camps, similar to the depression-era Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) program.

This would be aimed at separating youngsters in trouble from their environment and the influences that created their problems; give them constructive work to do.

Judge Dussia said he would appoint a special committee of probate judges to study the problem and come up with recommendations for such a program.

This proposal brought up another problem — the state law which bars youngsters between 14 and 18 from working unless they get special permits from the state labor department.

Youths 14 and 15 years old cannot work after 9 p. m. or before 7 [illegible] and 17-year olds cannot work after 10 p. m. or before 6 a. m. Work in certain jobs is banned before 18.

The law wobbles between the too-severe and the too-lenient for teen-agers.

The really tough juvenile delinquent under 17 often can get off with a lecture from a serious crime, but the 17-year-old who makes a minor mistake can go to prison with his elders.

Strict laws can send a boy to prison for several years when, the experts agree, a six-month stay in jail could do more to teach him the error of his ways and salvage a life.

Michigan has 21 offenses for which the offender can be sent to prison for life. Generally, the crimes against property are punished more severely than the crimes against other people.

Legislators are considering a number of proposals.

The 1959 legislative session is expected to see proposals for a work camp plan, similar to Camp Pugsley for probationers near Traverse City, a new family court system and a revision of the state's penal code.

Meanwhile, the first work on a new $12,000,000 Boys Vocational School is underway.

One way or the other, Michigan is attempting to meet the problem of juvenile delinquency again.

ll Our Town . . .

Each of us is a saleman for our town. Our attitude ward industry, our town and our people determine hether our community will get additional jobs.

It's not a question of whether we want to be salesmen. e are good ones or bad ones.

All of us can be readily contacted by a "stranger" in wn as we walk in the business district, shop or stop at lunch counter. From us he can obtain information industry and the progress of our town. As a salesen, each is a "very important person."

A generally favorable reaction to questions concerng community attitude may bring further study and entual location of a manufacturing plant here. On e contrary, an unfavorable attitude may terminate the rvey and eliminate us from further consideration.

Assurance that our town will receive full and careful valuation as a plant site can be gained if we form the abit of "talking up" our good points. Our people are ur town's spokesmen. Clerks, housewives, cab drivers, hoppers and others frequently hold the balance which etermines whether a community obtains a new indusy or it goes elsewhere.

Necessity for this positive approach on the part of all f us is stressed in the series of advertisements being run in The Avalanche and 300 other Michigan newspapers in a campaign sponsored by the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

OCTOBER 10, 1935

Earl Gierke is home from his school at McBain, as school there is closed for a couple of weeks for potato digging. He spent the weekend in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Giegling visited relatives at the Canadian Soo over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. William Christenson and daughter Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Serven and Mrs. Hugo Schreiber spent the weekend visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. York Edmonds, down the river.

Monday, after school, Mrs. Floyd McClain entertained with a birthday party in order to celebrate the fifth anniversary of her daughter Sally. The afternoon was spent playing games after which the children enjoyed a lovely lunch. Sally was given many lovely little gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tinker had as their guests from Wednesday to Friday the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Priest of Mancelona. Monday, Mrs. Tinker's brother, Robert Priest and wife and daughter of Lyon Manor, came for a couple of days visit at the Tinker home.

Misses Ella Hanson and Mary Schumann were home from Lansing for over the weekend. Miss Frances Mickelson was also here from Lansing and visited her parents at Lake Margrethe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Galehouse are leaving tomorrow on a week's visit at Jackson and Battle Creek with relatives. The latter's mother, Mrs. Dan Schofield will accompany them and will visit her daughter, Mrs. Levi Clark, at Jackson.

The George Granger residence is undergoing extensive improvements, including the installation of a hot water system and the remodeling of the bathroom.

Mrs. Joseph McLeod entertained the Danish Ladies Aid society at her home, Monday afternoon. The affair was also a farewell party for Mrs. Olga Boeson who left this week to make her home in Detroit. Mrs. Boeson has lived here for many years and has a host of friends who are sorry to have her leave.

Mrs. Harry Souders entertained a number of out-of-town guests at a dinner party Tuesday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of her son Richard, who is two years old. Those from out-of-town who came for the occasion were Richard's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Souders, Sr., of South Branch; Mrs. Elmer Corsaut and Helma, Buddy and Shirley Corsaut of Frederic; and Lewis Stillwagon of Lovells.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mickelson left this morning for their home in Mason after having spent the summer at Lake Margrethe.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peterson having moved into their new home purchased recently from Mrs. Olga Boeson, a group of their friends helped them to make merry Saturday evening, at an old fashioned house-warming. A lively treasure hunt kept the guests in a jovial mood for the greater share of the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. Richard Lovely, Axel Peterson, and Joe Kernosky. The affair was also the occasion of the birthday anniversary of Eugene Papendick and lunch appointments included a huge birthday cake in his honor. With appetites sharpened from action the merrymakers did justice to the potluck lunch which was served. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. William Bromwell and son Fred, of Lake Leelanau.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Failing and daughter Joan and Mr. Failing's mother, Mrs. Lorraine Failing, spent the weekend visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jenson on the South Branch.

Mrs. A. L. Roberts returned home from Lansing Saturday after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Mabel Hoffman, who has been quite ill at a hospital there. Mrs. Hoffman is much improved.

William Heric and family have moved into their new home on Maple Street.

Jerome Kesseler is having a full cement block basement put under his home on Chestnut Street.

Jess Schoonover is displaying a new 1936 Buick. He gave us a ride in it, and even let us drive, and it certainly is a grand car. He is holding open house and invites everyone in to see it.

Fire that started around the chimney in the kitchen of the Ed[illegible] W[illegible]inson home called out the fire department Friday night at 11 o'clock. The wall was burned and some of the furnishings damaged. However, the loss was covered by insurance.

Louis Mead, of Ravenna, Mich., was in the city a few days the first of the week. Lou has taken on considerable avoirdupois and is a picture of health. This is his first visit here in five years. He says he likes to get back to Grayling but is too busy to take the time to do so. He is an oil well operator. He says Crawford County would be better off without oil wells than with them. Wherever they appear, he says, the brine destroys vegetation, and besides the wells are only for a few years and after they are thru there is nothing left but poor unproductive brine and oil-soaked lands. As it is now we have a wonderful resort country which grows better as the years go on and will always be here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Vallad are celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary with a dinner for the family and immediate friends, Saturday, October 12, at 1 o'clock in the Danebod hall. They will hold open house at the hall that afternoon from three until five for their many friends and neighbors.

Complimenting Mrs. Harold Rasmussen Mrs. William McNeven and Mrs. Harry Reynolds entertained thirty ladies with a delightful party at the McNeven home Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was enjoyed playing cards after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Prizes were won by Mrs. David Montour, Mrs. James Reynolds, Mrs. E. E. Bugby, Mrs. Ted Morris and Mrs. Jesse Green of Roscommon. Mrs. Rasmussen received many lovely gifts.

Bird hunting season will open next Tuesday except for duck. Some local authorities say there are a lot of partridge this year and others say they are scarce.

Yes, Folks Mother and little Paula arrived back home at 505 Park St., Grayling after spending a weeks "Visit" at Grayling's new and beautiful Mercy Hospital.

It was the first visit for both to the gleaming, shiny new building, and from their reports, we would say they enjoyed it tremendously.

Mother checked in at Mercy at 7 a. m. Saturday, while Paula, who was delayed because of heavy traffic in and out of Mercy, did not arrive until 3.36 Sunday a. m., September 21st. However, regardless of the early hour, a full welcoming committee, composed of the Hospital staff, Dr. Henig and Dad Hunter were on hand to give her a big welcome. Miss Paula was so thrilled at the sight of the big new Mercy Hospital that she let out a husky cry that could be heard way out at the nurses station.

After the welcoming ceremonies were over, both Mother and daughter retired to the peace and quiet of their own separately chosen rooms for a much needed rest, while a thoughtful nurse posted "NO Visitors" signs on both doors. Likewise, Dad, Dr. Henig and some of the welcoming committee wearily trudged home to catch a few remaining hours of much needed sleep.

By mid-afternoon, Sunday, both were sufficiently rested to peer about their quarters in the big new hospital. Mother was much pleased to learn that the walls of her semi-private room were painted a soft, restful blue, while a huge picture window looked out upon the new green grass towards the beautiful AuSable river which flowed lazily along. Beyond the banks stood tall green pines among scattered maples, now of many colors of yellow, gold, and red in their bright autumn dress. A closer look around the room itself revealed a large cloths closet, reading tables, comfortable upholstered visitors chairs, provisions for telephone and TV service. Also a long silken cord hung at each bed. A slight tug for "room service" brought a nurse to answer the call in no time at all.

Still later, directly across the hall, Miss Paula slowly awakened from her long slumber. Feeling the need of very urgent room service, she looked around for the long silken cord such as her mother had in her room, but could find none. A loud wail brought prompt service from the nurse on duty, but to no avail ... too late!!!! Regardless, the kind and efficient nurse gave her a complete "Check over" and soon again, Paula was fast asleep in her own sterile plastic basket so thoughtfully provided by the Sisters of Mercy.

After a weeks visit to this wonderful new hospital, Paula and her Mother are at home to their friends at 505 Park St.

Gee! we're sure glad your home.

From the Lincoln Times, Lincolnton, N. C.: People are interesting subjects of conversation, and all of us talk about other people—some much more than others. If you'll notice there are some among us who spend most of their conversational time talking about other people.

This is good, perhaps, if we are sympathetic and say good things about our neighbors and fellow men. But some of us are inclined to gossip about practically anyone and spread all sorts of tales, even exaggerating them as we go.

One bad thing about tearing down people is that one's time is wasted on a non-productive pursuit. Did you ever notice that the man or woman who is busy doing things, planning things, and thinking ahead, has little time to sit around talking about menial things and other people?

He or she who is not idle, will usually spend less time in the art of gossip than do the idle, the envious, and those who want to attract attention above all else. A good rule to follow, as much as possible, is to say nothing if you can't say something good about a friend or neighbor. It is surprising how much damage can be quickly done to the reputations of those who are on the receiving end of unfounded, untrue gossip.

From The Catskill Mountain Star, Saugerties, N. Y.: There are a great many so-called "weeks" each year. One of our contemporaries has plugged for a "Family Week" during the summer. That paper points out that summer is, naturally, the time for entertaining visitors. Friends, and traveling relatives drop in and some of them stay, especially if their homes are in cities and the visited ones live in the country, so to speak.

Sandwiched in between these visits are sometimes, vacations and the preparations for them. Mom, as usual, finds that her work load increases to an even higher peak during the summer months.

Family Week would be a seven-day period during the season which the family selects. Visitors would be shooed away and all activities would be keyed to what Mother wants to do. The family would eat out, help with the housework and keep the diggings picked up. Pop would get a breather too. One of the rules would be that whatever he's slaving at—painting the house or building a patio or something—comes to a dead halt during Family Week.

Instead of scurrying around, the family would just do what comes naturally—loaf.

location at Portage Lake in this county and we are pleased to state that our chances are excellent and there is very little doubt that next summer and the succeeding years will find the M. N. G. camped within our county. If this comes to us, much credit is due to President Hanson and Secretary Barnes particularly for their efforts to influence the commission toward selecting this county for a camp. Others of our citizens have also materially assisted.

"Consumers Marketing Information Cooperating with County Extension Service"

There is a real opportunity for you to test your culinary skill if you choose one of the "orphan" meat cuts at your favorite store. "Orphan" meat cuts are those meats which often are overlooked when we shop, mainly because their names and appearance are not familiar or because they are not so tender as steaks and chops, and therefore take longer to prepare.

Many men describe a good cook as one who has the ability to prepare properly a less tender cut of meat. There's an art to turning beef brisket, short ribs or a pot roast into tender, juicy servings of meat. The know-how of meat cookery or a pot roast into tender juicy servings of meat. The know-how of meat cookery is an important qualification in any definition of a good cook.

In order to know whether or not an orphan cut of meat is an economy one usually needs to do a little mental arithmetic at the meat counter. If you divide the cost per pound of meat by the number of servings you can expect from a pound you will find the cost per serving. From short ribs of beef for instance, you may expect to get about two servings per pound.

Short ribs are cut from the thinnest section of the ribs between plate and the rib beef. They contain rib bone and alternating layers of lean and fat. Usually you will find them cut in a cubical shape. In making your selection it is well to select those meatier pieces, in order to provide more servings per pound.

Braising and cooking in liquid are the accepted general methods for cooking these ribs. When properly prepared, these orphan meat cuts make a king's meal at a budget price. It pays to check the prices on cuts of this kind — they may be a real "economy" for you.

To The Users Of Highway 27

Concrete highways have established a record over the last 49 years in Michigan of being the finest type pavement that engineering skill can build in Michigan.

Recently the highway department announced that another type of highway built entirely of asphalt would be tried in Michigan for the first time on heavy duty expressways. Quite naturally cement producers, after having established such a record over so many years, wanted to know why.

The Aetna Portland Cement Company is interested in all roads, but at this particular time Highway 27 on which the highway department plans on using asphalt exclusively on 115 miles from a point just north of Clare to Indian River.

In a press release dated September 19 from the highway department it was stated that in making the decision advice was secured from competent soil engineers. It is well-known that a ridge runs up the center of the northern part of the Lower Peninsula. The country is rolling, natural drainage is excellent, and the soil is very sandy. These are ideal conditions for any type of road to make its best showing.

Was asphalt given this choice location on the advice of soil engineers? Can it be inferred that asphalt is a product that must be pampered?

Concrete has established its record where soil conditions were the most unfavorable, where drainage was poor, and where the volume of traffic was great, and the loads the heaviest. Concrete has proved that it can stand the gaff where the going is the most rugged. In Michigan no other type of road can point to such a record.

If on advice of competent engineers it is felt that this experiment should be tried, may we suggest that such an innovation be adopted on one of the highways around Lansing. In that location all public officials, both elected and employed, and all our citizens who have occasion to visit Lansing so often can judge for themselves the quality of the road over a period of time and can see for themselves the maintenance required.

We feel that the people of the northern part of the Lower Peninsula deserve the type of road that has proved to be the finest type for Michigan users under Michigan conditions. Highway 27 leads to "Mighty Mac", the bridge across the Straits, of which we are all so justly proud. Why should this most important highway be experimental? Why should the people of this part of the state be the guinea pig?
